

Every day, Polly flies
to a faraway meadow.
She sucks sweet nectar
from colourful flowers.

Polly also picks up pollen from the flowers. She brushes it into baggy baskets on her back legs.

Polly zips back home with her heavy load.

Her fine pollen helps feed
the baby bees inside the hive.

