

King Charles III's Colourful Coronation

King Charles the Third jumped out of bed,
Wiggled his toes and then he said,

"I must get dressed without delay.
Today's my coronation day!"

In long red robes, he joined his guard,
Who stood in rows out in the yard.

He hopped in his coach and shouted,
"March! Down the Mall and round the arch."

The crowds nearby cheered, "HOORAY!
King Charles the Third is on his way."

Until . . .

"STOP the coach!" King Charles said.
"Let's meet those people up ahead."

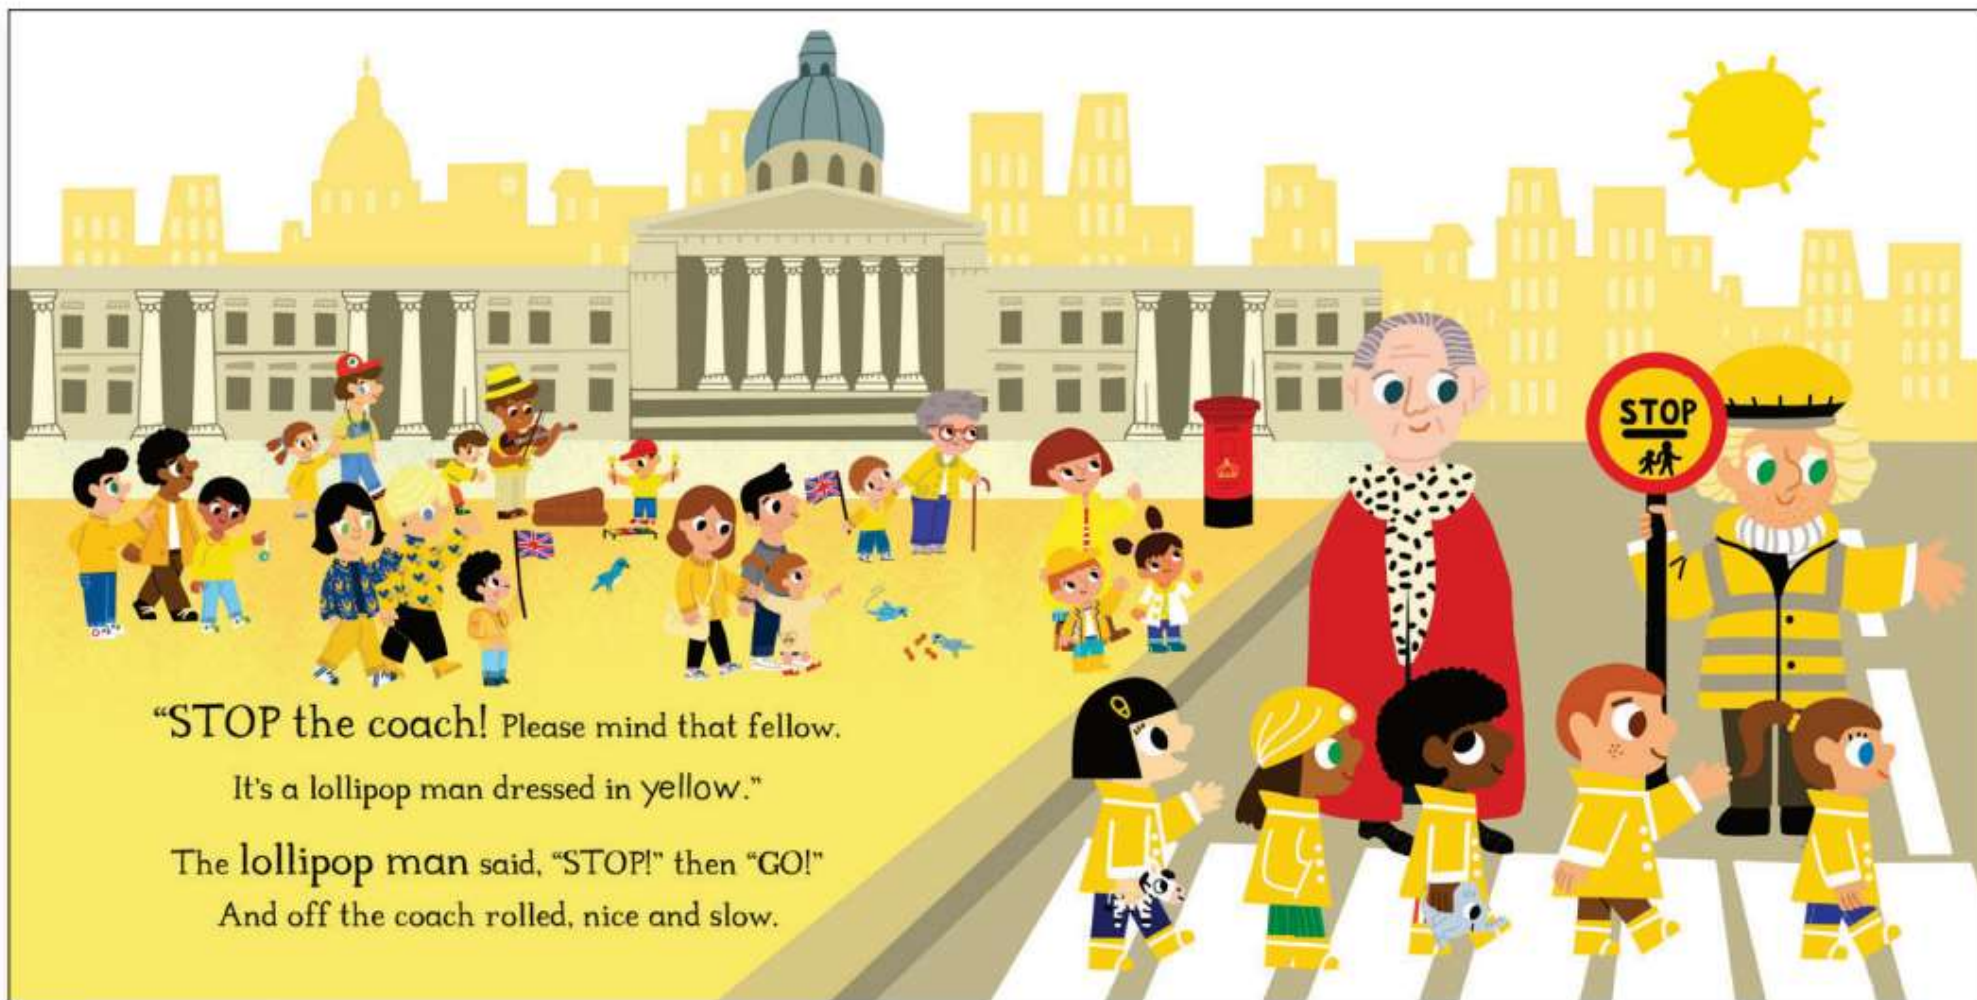

Builders in orange called, "Good day!"

Then King Charles went on his way.

"STOP the coach! Please mind that fellow.

It's a lollipop man dressed in yellow."

The lollipop man said, "STOP!" then "GO!"

And off the coach rolled, nice and slow.
