

Today is a good day.
I found this AMAZING
fossil on the beach!

MAP OF A
BEACH TODAY

I think I will call her Mary.
She must have been very well hidden . . .

... as I didn't notice her last time I was here. That was a long time ago ...

... when I was just a baby! Can you spot me?

MAP OF A BEACH
5 YEARS AGO

MAP OF 20 THOUSAND* YEARS AGO

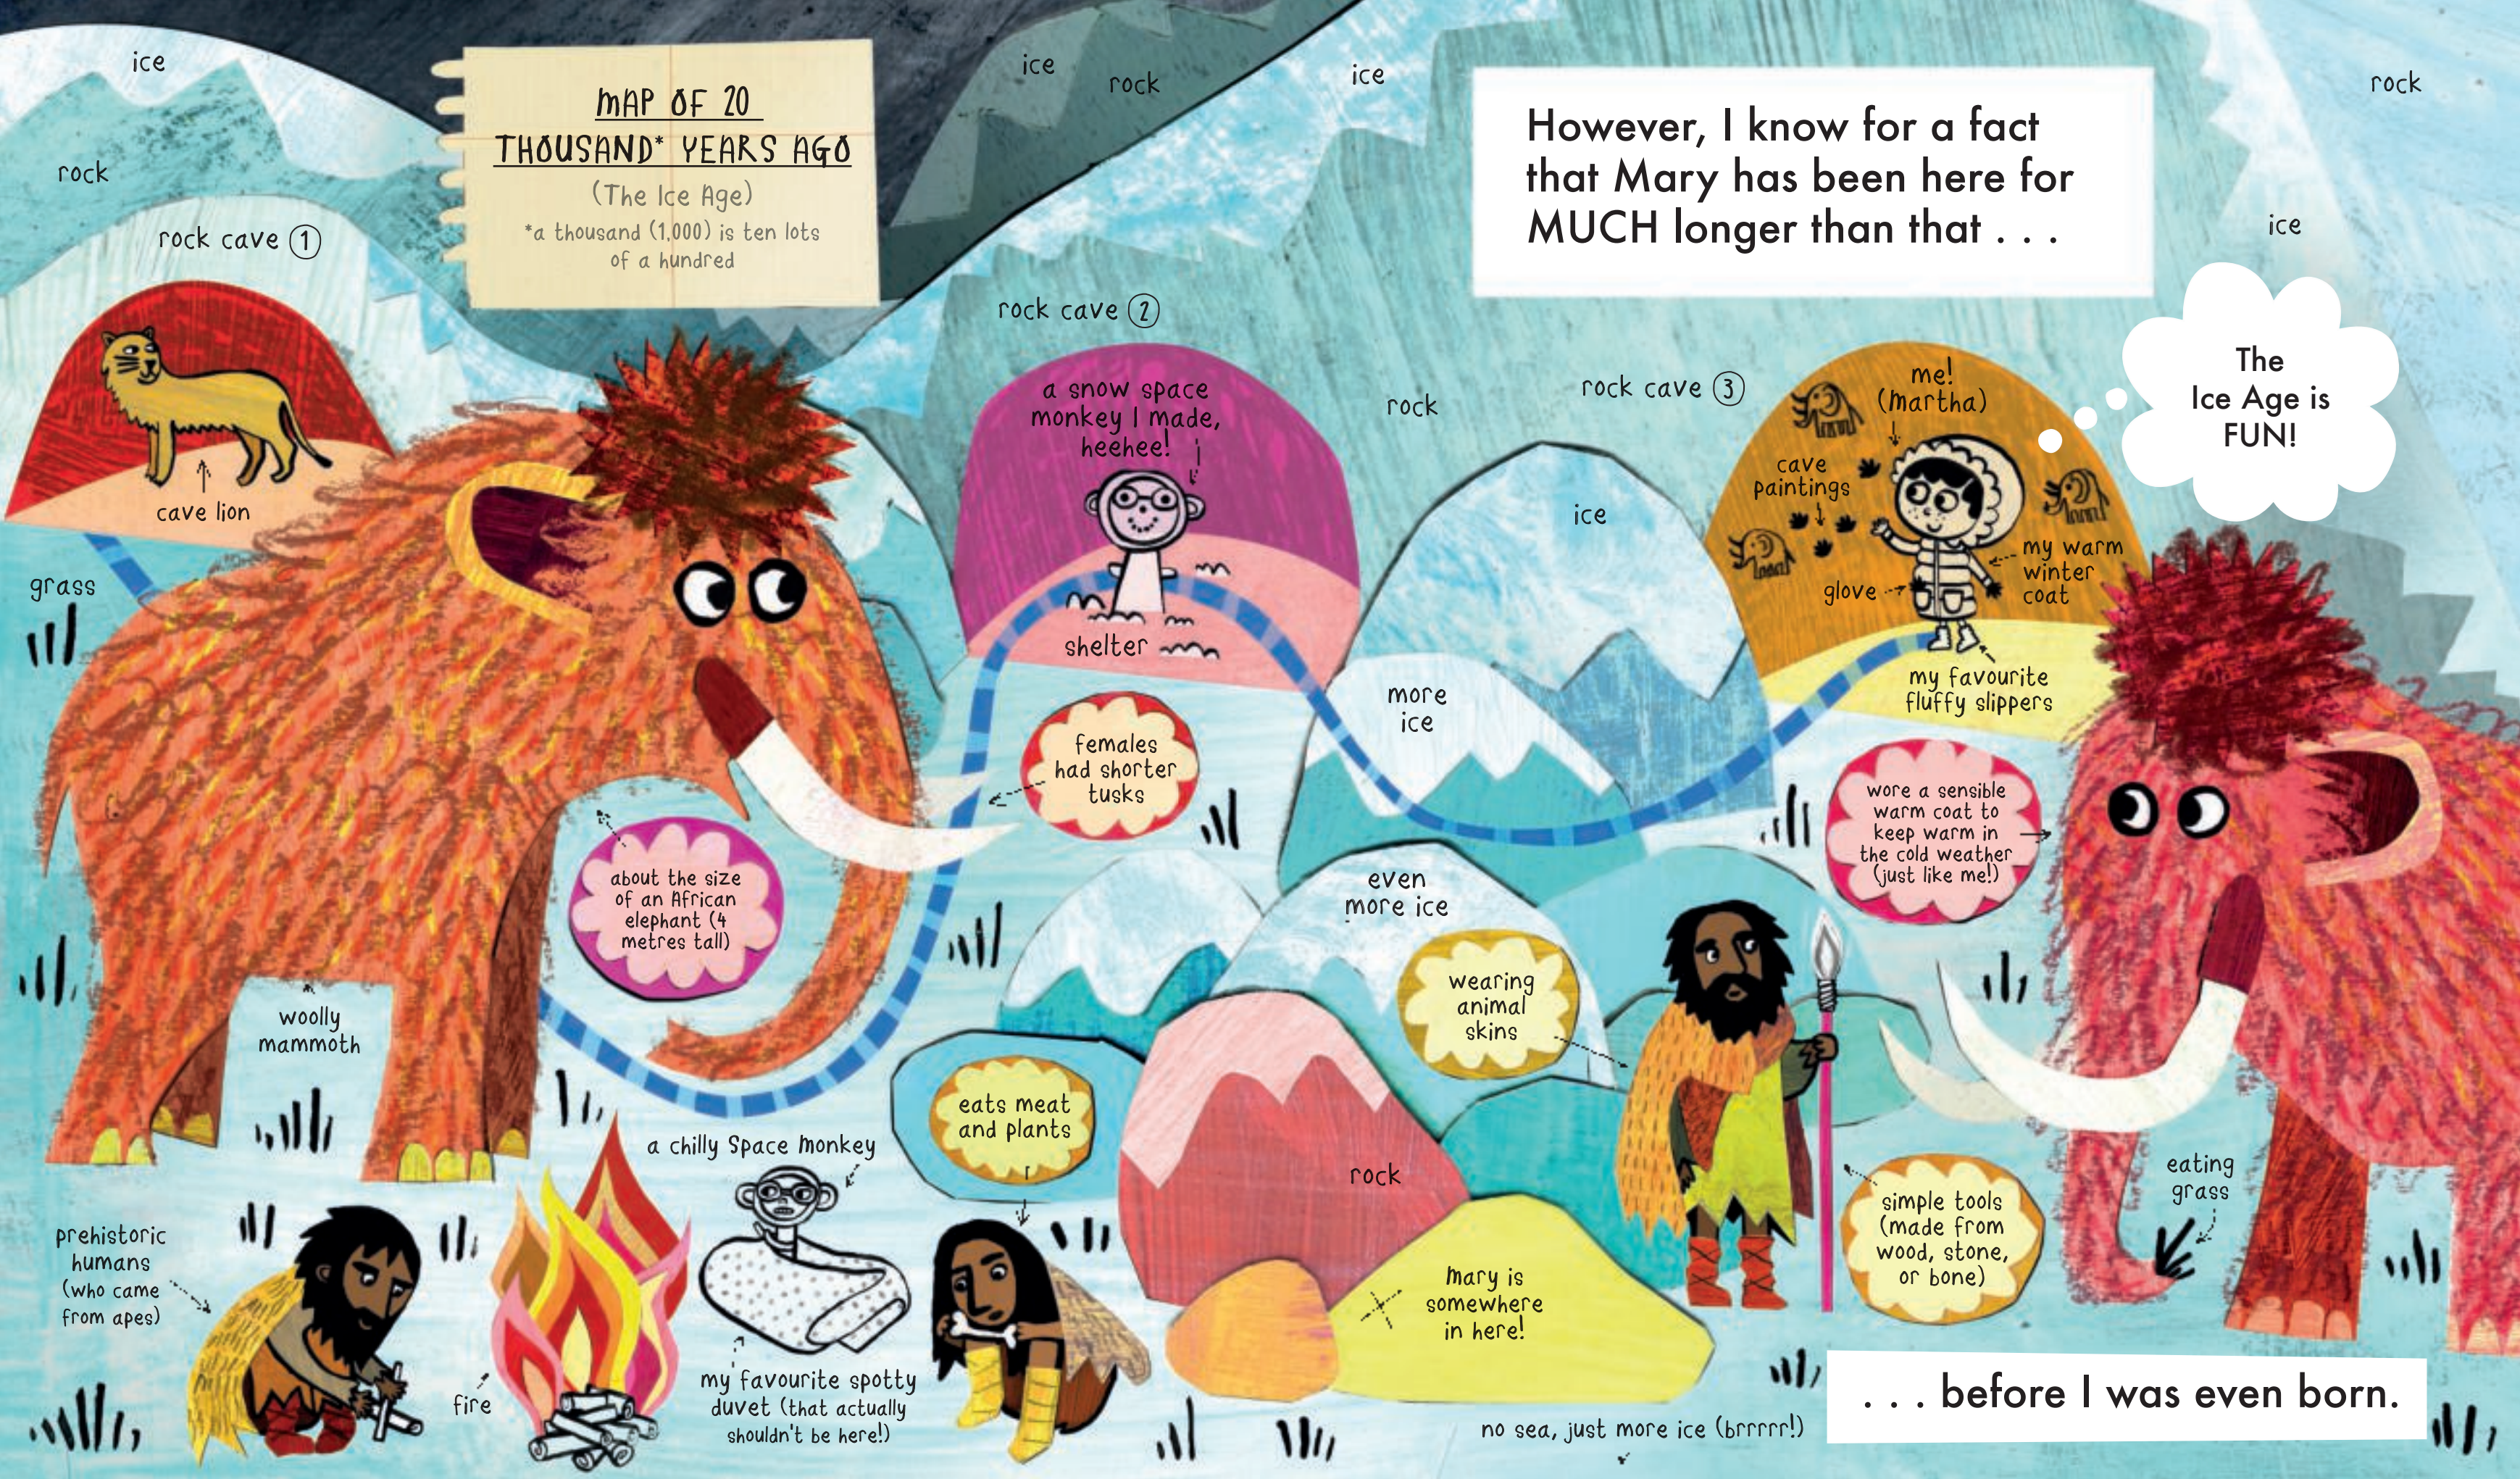

(The Ice Age)

*a thousand (1,000) is ten lots of a hundred

However, I know for a fact that Mary has been here for MUCH longer than that . . .

The Ice Age is FUN!

. . . before I was even born.

rock

ice

rock cave ②

a snow space monkey I made, heehee!

shelter

females had shorter tusks

about the size of an African elephant (4 metres tall)

woolly mammoth

more ice

rock cave ③

me! (martha)

cave paintings

glove

my warm winter coat

my favourite fluffy slippers wore a sensible warm coat to keep warm in the cold weather (just like me!)

even more ice

wearing animal skins

eats meat and plants

a chilly Space Monkey

my favourite spotty duvet (that actually shouldn't be here!)

rock

Mary is somewhere in here!

simple tools (made from wood, stone, or bone)

eating grass

prehistoric humans (who came from apes)

fire

no sea, just more ice (brrrrr!)
