

Bessie's Bees

The book cover features a central illustration of a young girl with voluminous, curly red hair. She is wearing large, round blue-rimmed glasses and has a few freckles on her cheeks. She is dressed in a pink and yellow horizontally striped long-sleeved shirt under green overalls. Surrounding her head are several small, friendly-looking bees with blue eyes and striped bodies. At the bottom corners, there are illustrations of purple and white daisies with yellow centers. The title 'Bessie's Bees' is written in a large, blue, rounded font at the top.

Bessie's Bees

George Kirk

Ana Gómez

Bessie's head was full of bees,
absolutely BUZZING with them.

And that was just fine.

Bessie's bees were always buzzing to get out.

So every day, they headed straight into the garden.

While Bessie rolled in the grass, the busy bees
explored the flowers.

While Bessie swung in the tree, the busy bees
looped the loop!

While Bessie looked for worms, the busy bees
looked for their next adventure.

At bedtime, when Bessie couldn't settle,

the busy bees hummed all her favourite tunes until...

they were all FAST asleep!

Bessie and her bees made the best team,
and everything was just fine. But then...
