

“The East of Africa.
Now we call them canerows
because they are straight
just like these crops
I must tend and plant.

Knowing your history is important
like sewing seeds, the better
you water, the more you reap.”

The grass rustles.