

Percy spent his days cleaning and tidying ...

... but there was never any post to deliver.
No one seemed to know his post office was there.