

Where is that bird?

Could it be playing hide-and-seek?

She checked behind the greenhouse . . .

She looked inside the flowerpots . . .

and searched up in the trees.

Tilly reached for a branch
and pulled herself up.

“It’s a
climbing frame!”

She surveyed her kingdom but could not see the bird anywhere.

Til-lee, Til-lee.
Where is that bird?

While searching under a bush,
Tilly came across a magic wand.
“Could this help me find the bird?”

“Abracadabra!”

Instantly the wand became a bird-spotting telescope.

